Six Men Escape Death as Search Plane Plunges Into Hillside

BATTERED WRECKAGE of U.S. C-47 aircraft which crashed in wilds outside Whitehorse in far north today is shown at Robson, just south of Whitehorse, where it hit 2,500-foot hills. Occupants of plane, engaged in mass air search for missing C-54, since last Thursday escaped with severe injuries. Bulletin reporter Stan Burke accompanied rescue party which backtracked 25 miles into rough bush to bring out injured men. These are pictures.

MEDICAL ATTENTION on spot of crash was rendered injured men by Major Gordon Fisher, U.S. medical corps doctor from Camp Carson. Here he administers to Sgt. Bruno Prydzal of Philadelphia, one of plane's crew members. Prydzal was not badly injured and is now in Whitehorse hospital. Other crew members are shown below in accompanying pictures as they recuperate.

RADIO COMMENTATOR Jack Borges, 33, of Anchorage, was among five rescued from crashed aircraft. Borges accompanied American crew on their sweeps over rugged mountainous countryside, and was badly cut about the face and body when C-47 plowed into hillside. He was carried to hospital by rescue party of Canadian and American servicemen and civilians.

Hydrogen Bomb Seen In Production This Year

By Joseph L. Myler

Special to the Bulletin

WASHINGTON, Feb. 1. — (UP) — Atomic experts predicted today that this country will produce and test its first hydrogen super-bomb this year.

Officials said, however, that it will not be ready for production at the new atomic test scheduled for this spring at Eniwetok Island in the Pacific Ocean.

Still, they asserted, this country is far ahead of Russia in the atomic arms race.

Physicists said the first "atomic" models will be two to 10 times as powerful as today's best plutonium models, itself the equivalent of nearly 200,000 tons of TNT.

LIMITED BY PLANES But the power of later "refined" models will be limited, they said, by the capacity of the airplanes or missiles built to deliver them. Bombs of the future conceivably could "fly" the largest

New Outlets Needed For Alberta Gas

Adequate Market

Necessary to Spur

Further Search

By PAT McVEAN

Bulletin Staff Writer

CALGARY, Feb. 1. — A leading California consulting geologist today forecast the incentive for gas search in Alberta would be seriously decreased unless an adequate market for natural gas is assured.

Dr. F. Dodge, Los Angeles, told a conservation board hearing that "there won't be gas if the companies are not allowed to sell the gas they are finding."

The California geologist appeared before the board this morning at West Coast Transmission authority to obtain permission to export Alberta natural gas through the Vancouver, B.C., Fraser Valley and to Vancouver.

Dr. Dodge indicated incentive to companies to search for gas would be lost to a large degree unless markets are assured.

"If oil development continues Alberta will have gas running out of its ears," he said.

Probably 80 billion cubic feet of natural gas underlie the soil of Alberta, the Board was told yesterday by Dr. A. W. Nause, chief geologist for Westcoast Transmission Company.

LITTLE EXPLORED

He ended his testimony yesterday on a highly optimistic note. During the two years of natural gas and oil development in northern Alberta, only 10 per cent of the natural gas volume in Canadian rocks, less than one per cent of that in Madison formations only, five per cent of D-1, D-2 and D-3 beds and less than one per cent of the pre-D-3 beds have been explored, Dr. Nause said.

If exploration activities continue at the same pace as much as 100 trillion cubic feet of natural gas may be uncovered, he estimated.

Current indications point to an ultimate discovery of 50 trillion cubic feet.

The Fort St. John area shows promise of yielding one trillion cubic feet of natural gas; the Peace River area could supply neighboring towns from gas pools already discovered; reserves of the Non-mountain pools are in excess of 20 billion cubic feet; a gas pool at Lesser Slave Lake's west end may be developed commercially.

Calling Lake's west end as a possible gas field, Dr. Nause said a Honda large additional gas reserves can be developed; natural gas also may be available at Barhead and likely near Bayle; a commercial field may develop at Lac 1-3-B and at Spruce Grove a reservoir of 30 billion cubic feet could be expected to underlie a 3000 acre reserve.

SOME WINES, LIQUORS WILL COST LESS

A. J. Mason, chairman of the Alberta Liquor Control Board, today said there will be some reduction in the price of imported sherries and sterling area runs and brandies in stores in the province.

He said the board is reviewing the prices now and new prices will be announced shortly on new stocks of liquors and wines bought and delivered from sterling areas since devaluation.

In some cases the price cuts will not be felt until new stocks arrive.

Weak Radio Call Spurs Air Search

10 Aircraft Racing to Spot Where Signal is Heard

Ten air force search planes have been dispatched to the Smith River area, 300 miles east of Whitehorse, to investigate a weak radio signal that may have come from a transport plane missing since last Thursday with 44 aboard.

The planes are carrying expert radio men to monitor possible signals in the area where another plane picked up a weak, short signal in wireless code at 11:16 p.m. Yukon time last night. Its contents were not disclosed.

Air force officials said the signal was clear but weak. It was heard in the "immediate vicinity" of Smith River, and received on the 300-kilohertz frequency, usual band for distress messages.

The first plane heading for the area, took off before dawn from Fort Nelson, B.C., 400 miles south of Whitehorse. Others followed from Fort Nelson and Whitehorse.

All radio men in the area were alerted for reports.

WILL SEEK 'FIX' Operators were glancing by with radio direction-finding equipment to try to obtain a "fix" on the transmitter's position if the signal should be repeated.

Similar reports of weak signals in other areas have been received previously by search officials.

Officials said that a receiver must be practically "right on top" of a Gibson Girl transmitter to receive a signal in mountainous country. A Gibson Girl is an emergency radio set of the type carried by the missing plane.

WEATHER CLEAR

The weather was quite clear today as the planes raced away from the search headquarters.

New urgency was given their quest by a weather forecast of low clouds and snow tomorrow. Cold weather moving out of Siberia threatened blizzards.

At Smith River it was 20 below zero. At Whitehorse, it was 20 below. (Continued on Page 2)

'I Was Sure We'd Had It' Says Survivor

By STANLEY BURKE

Bulletin Staff Writer

WHITEHORSE, Feb. 1. — SIX happy men are in the American military hospital in Whitehorse today. They thumbed their noses at death and were amazed when they got away with it.

The six men were the occupants of an American Dakota transport which Monday crashed into the side of Mount Lorne, 25 miles south of Whitehorse while searching for American transport missing since Thursday.

DIDN'T EVEN TRY

"I was so sure we'd had it I didn't even bother to put my hands up to save my face," said Capt. Peter Bury, of Springfield, Mass., co-pilot of the aircraft. "I was just very amazed when I was still alive after we hit."

"Funny thing," he said, "I was sure it was going to be a bad one and I just sat there and didn't seem to have any particular thoughts of insurance—funny thing like that, I was pretty peaceful as I sat and waited for it."

"I've been in tight spots before," said the former fighter pilot who flew Mustangs over Europe from 1943 to the VE day. "Other times I was pretty scared and I thought of all kinds of things, about my uniform at the doctors, about my wife, the repair job that had to be done on the car, glad I had lots of insurance—funny things like that."

"But when you really think you have had it, you don't seem to think about anything much," he said as he perched on a cigarette and enjoyed his "horrorized time" which he did not seem to have become quite used to.

East Pianist Triumphant In Recital

One of the most brilliant piano recitals of the past two years was presented in the Masonic Temple here last night.

Performing artist was Bela Bosozemey-Nagy, a young man of whom not much has been heard in the Canadian West. But he certainly deserves a top-ranking position in the ranks of North American musicians.

BRILLIANT PERFORMANCE
Hungarian born, Mr. Bosozemey-Nagy was one of Europe's well-known pianists before he came to Canada and became head of the senior piano school of the Toronto Conservatory of Music.

He has been on tour of the nation during the past few weeks. For an, an certainly happy the Alberta Recital Music Teachers Association brought him to Edmonton.

For Mr. Bosozemey-Nagy displayed a technical and artistic brilliance that this city is seldom afforded the opportunity to see and hear.

FOUR BARTOK PIECES
His program was heavy on the one hand as to his repertoire, which included five Beethoven sonatas.

Included last night were two sonatas (Beethoven's in C major and Schubert's in B flat major), Bartok's Toccata and Fugue in E minor, and four bright little pieces by Hungarian composer Bela Bartok.

It was the first time a visiting artist has included Bartok's modern compositions in an Edmonton recital, and the audience loved it.

Cliff Manahan Knocked
Out of Challenge Play

Cliff Manahan, manytimes winner of the competition in the past, dropped from the running for the Grand Challenge as play continued this morning in the 53rd annual Alberta Curling Association bonspiel.

Manahan was beaten 11-9 by Jack Rutan, Calgary, in an exciting game played at the Edmonton rink. One down going home, Manahan was unable to come through with the point needed to tie. It was Rutan, instead, who counted.

Defeat of Manahan reduced the number of challenges to two. Rutan's triumph was his seventh in succession. While Bill Robinson, Jasper, who did not see action this morning, has a skel of six straight wins.

Mixed Feelings Greet U.S. Announcement on H-Bomb

OTTAWA, Feb. 1.—(BUP)—Here is the reaction of Canada, the United States and the world to President Truman's announcement that he had ordered construction of the mighty hydrogen bomb.

Defence Minister Brooke Claxton: "It's purely an American matter." He said, in Saskatoon, Sask., he was too far from Ottawa to say more.

C. J. Mackenzie, president of the National Research Council and Chairman of Canada's Atomic Energy Control Board: "We are not interested in the hydrogen bomb at all. We are not in the bomb manufacturing field."

A senior external affairs department official who declined use of his name: "This makes it absolutely essential that the east and west get together right away on a workable plan to control atomic energy."

Gen. A. G. L. McNaughton, Canadian representative on the U.N. Atomic Energy Commission, told the Canadian Club in Montreal 14 hours before Mr. Truman's announcement there still was time to agree on international atomic energy control.

A WISE DECISION
Bernard M. Baruch—"It was a wise decision, necessary for the peace of the world. It emphasizes the need for a truly effective international control of every form of atomic energy and mass destruction."

Dr. Harold C. Urey, one of the world's top atomic scientists—"I don't see how the president could have arrived at any other conclusion. We must make the bomb and we must continue to achieve a unity of the world."

Mayor Shimo Hamal of Hiroshima, scene of the first A-bomb explosion—"We can only pray that neither the old atomic bomb nor the new hydrogen bomb will ever be used again. You saw Hiroshima. It (the hydrogen bomb) can wipe out 1,000,000 people at once. This is the most horrible thought that ever came into my mind."

CHILLING THOUGHT
Mayor Hirsch, (head of Nazi rule, scene of the second explosion)—"It's a chilling thought that disaster hundreds of times worse than that might happen."

Gen. Omar Bradley, chairman of the joint U.S. Chiefs of Staff—"I can only say how this will affect U.S. military strategy as yet. I do not know and I do not wish anybody knows just what the hydrogen bomb will do."

Chairman William Z. Foster and General Secretary Eugene Dennis of the U.S. Communist party—"No man or group of men had the right to by-pass the American people and commit them to a decision to manufacture the hydrogen bomb. . . . Every thinking person in our country is appalled by this bliz against world peace and our country's national security."

Oil Royalty Boost Sought

By PAT MCVAN
Buletin Staff Writer
CALGARY, Feb. 1.—(AP)—Oil royalties should be increased from 12 and a half to 16 and two-thirds per cent, one liberal faction will probably argue at the party convention here.

The convention opening this morning had resolutions will not be considered until tomorrow. A northern Alberta group is expected to press for an increase in oil royalties to give the province a 15 per cent return and surface rights holders a royalty of one and two-thirds per cent.

PROTEST POLICIES
(At present the province receives a 12 and a half per cent royalty and surface rights holders are paid cash sums for compensation.)

Liberal convention resolutions will also protest the provincial government's hospital and school grants policies.

Delegates will consider a resolution asking the government to amend or withdraw its restriction on provincial hospitalization grants.

The Alberta government matches federal grants to new hospitals provided provincial authorities have full jurisdiction in setting hospital district boundaries.

CLAIMED UNFAIR
Liberals say this procedure results in unfair tax levies in the hospital district, and recommends a null rate levy instead.

Use of oil revenue for school operation and construction is also recommended in Liberal resolutions.

Establishment of a revolving fund by the government to guarantee low interest rate debentures for hospital and school buildings is suggested.

Most of Tenants Get Rent Boost

Nothing To Do About It
But Pay Is View Of Most

Majority of Edmonton's 4,500 tenants in line today for the 15 to 20 per cent rent boost are accepting it "with very good grace," but as a better alternative than complete removal of controls, according to a Wartime Prices and Trade Board spokesman.

He doubted whether many would move or do anything much about it but pay.

Although approximately 6,000 applications forms to hike rents have been taken out by Edmonton landlords, only 4,500 were taken before Dec. 31, and therefore only that number are involved in today's upsurge in living costs.

Because rent prices board has no check on whether tenants agree to rent boosts, it is unable to estimate exactly what number of boosts are effective today.

MUST RETURN FORM
Landlords serve the forms on tenants, but the forms must be returned only to the landlord.

The other 1,500 tenants for whom rent hike applications had been taken out will not be liable for increases until one month after they receive their rent board official's decision.

"Most tenants think they have to put up with the increase, because they have no other choice," said the spokesman.

Affects All But
Two Provinces
Exclusive To The Bulletin
MONTREAL, Feb. 1.—(BUP)—Rents streaked upward overnight in all provinces except Newfoundland and Saskatchewan.

Rent boosts, ranging from 18 to 22 per cent depending on whether the accommodation was heated, hit the pocketbooks of so many Canadians that even rental board officials said they would have trouble tallying them.

The government order did not apply to Newfoundland, which retained jurisdiction over its own rents.

Neither did it affect Saskatchewan, where Premier T. C. Douglas' administration agreed to take over rent controls.

But in the eight other provinces, where Ottawa still handled rent control, tenants who until today had not had long leases, whose they had.

A price board official covering Alberta and British Columbia said, for instance, that "most landlords in the two provinces who are entitled to the boosts are taking them."

The nation boasts a total of about 500,000 landlords.

Both Sides Ready In Rail Rate Dispute

Seven Provinces Combine Forces
To Fight Renewed Plea For Hoist

OTTAWA, Feb. 1.—(CP)—Advocates and opponents of higher rail freight rates were lining up their forces today for a new phase of their long battle.

The railways are attempting to boost their latest general rate increase—obtained last Sept. 20—from eight to 20 per cent.

7 PROVINCES OPPOSED

Lined up against the railways before the Board of Transport Commissioners will be the seven provinces—all except Ontario, Quebec and Newfoundland—which have been fighting rate hoists since the carriers made their first post-war move in that direction late in 1946.

The forum will be the board's reopened hearings on the 1948 railway application that led to last September's award of an "interim" eight-per-cent increase to the companies.

The review of that award is being made in line with a judgment of the supreme court of Canada.

The court held on Dec. 22 that the eight-per-cent decision had not been a proper one, in that the board had deferred final consideration of a railway application for a 20-per-cent increase pending studies which the court found irrelevant to that particular case.

Chief material to be laid before the board at this week's hearings, it was expected, would be figures covering the full 1940 operating results of the railway, particularly the Canadian Pacific Railway. The CPR has been used by the board as the "yardstick" line for rate-making.

On the basis of final figures which became available this week, indictments were the CPR would claim a revenue "deficiency" of some $30,000,000 on last year's rail business. That would be the difference between its actual returns and what it would take to cover its dividend and surplus requirements.

Senator-Writer Dies In Quebec

MONTREAL, Feb. 1.—(CP)—Senator Edmund Charles St. Perre, 72, died at his suburban Westmount home last night.

A Liberal, he was an editorial member of the French-language newspaper Le Canada for 20 years. He was a leader in sports in Montreal.

His appointment to the senate was Feb. 8, 1940.

QUEBECKERS STORM GATE

QUEBEC, Feb. 1.—(CP)—Police were called to the city auditorium last night when 2,500 persons attempted to force their way in to attend a free demonstration by the "world champion weight-lifter."

The crowd started acting up when the auditorium manager announced there was no more room inside and locked the doors. The angry mob broke a plate glass window during the demonstration.

Shades Of Hitler

HAMBURG, Feb. 1.—(AP)—Metal Nazi swastikas about the size of a nickel were scattered today from a speeding automobile through the Hamburg business district. It was the anniversary of Adolf Hitler's proclamation as Reichschancellor in 1933. Police speculated that it was the work of a neo-Nazi underground movement.

"You know where you belong? Right back in the Georgia chain (road) gang you got away from!"

Detectors arrived within minutes, arrested the man, Thomas J. Dixon, 30, and wired Georgia for his record.

Yesterday police had to tell Dixon's now remorseful wife the information she unwittingly gave

Dakota Areas Lack Supplies

CHICAGO, Feb. 1.—(AP)—The United States army today released equipment for rescue mission in snow-locked sections of the Dakotas, and studied another "operation snowbound" to relieve distress in isolated communities.

At the same time, the coldest weather in more than half a century gripped areas of the Pacific northwest state. Temperatures sagged below freezing again in the southern citrus belt.

Parts of the Dakotas are buried under a 34-inch-deep snow blanket, with drifts up to 10 feet high. Some rural families have been isolated since mid-December.

An estimated 500 families are in desperate need of heating fuel in the sub-zero cold. Some families are running out of food. The army said one of the most critical spots is the town of Edgely, N.D., where fuel is nearly gone.

The Red Cross designated as disaster areas four South Dakota counties and a stretch of North Dakota from Devils Lake to the South Dakota border.

Both the Red Cross and governor Fred Aandahl of North Dakota appealed to the army for weapons—now vehicles—to reach isolated families. The army said eight of them will be flown in today.

Army headquarters in Chicago announced an aerial survey is being made of the stricken area. The army could resume "operations snowbound" only if President Truman declares a state of emergency exists. The relief operation last winter ran from Jan. 29 to March 15 and included areas in Wyoming, Nebraska, and the Dakotas.

Barter Deal

TOKYO, Feb. 1.—(AP)—A private barter deal between Communist China and Japan has been submitted to the occupation and the Japanese government for approval, a spokesman for the British firm of Y Mac Club, Club Tancuave, Boys' and Girls' Fair, and the Teen Club.

At the annual general meeting and dinner last night in West Hall of YMCA, over 250 members and guests attended to hear statements from various committees.

Revenue receipts for the year totalled $73,434.82, with $10,850 received from agencies.

This left a cash surplus of $467.75 for the year.

Presentation of voluntary leadership awards were made to Waldo Empey, oldest active member of Edmonton YMCA; Chester Galtner, chairman of house committee; and Max Dewar, first president of Wise Men's Club and past president of YMCA.

Annual reports from various clubs were heard in the form of short skits and dramatizations of their work.

The reports, with Joel Smith acting as master of ceremonies, provided skills from Keweenaw Club.

He was commenting on an article from the Ottawa correspondent of the Times. It said Canadian farmers were pondering means to meet the problem of a disappearing British market and "one method which suggested itself is to accept payment from Britain of blocked sterling."

The Times correspondent said the suggestion was in an "expansive stage."

Jarline, Matheson Company, reported today. He said it is proposed to exchange Japanese newsprint, textile and machinery parts for 15,000 tons of Chinese soybeans through the port of Tientsin.

The Pas Visitors Seek Sleeping Bag Room

THE PAS, Man., Feb. 1.—(CP)—The weatherman promises northern Manitobans a break today as they open their four-day third annual trappers' festival.

After shivering through one of the coldest Januaries in the province's history, residents at The Pas and some 500 visitors to the color fall may be treated to only five-day-warm weather today.

Officials of the festival consider this "quite a break" after the winter's consistent 40-below temperatures.

The town has had a festive air for more than a week as in previous years — The Pas is Cranberry Portage and returns. It is worth $1,000 to the winner and the competition will be keen when the dog mushers get under way at 10 a.m. CST Thursday.

Other features during the four-day festivities include the crowning of a Fur Queen, and a Skunk Derby.

By George Howe

Synopsis: "Henny," the idealistic young German corporal who has turned spy for the Americans, is making his way back to the American lines with important information about the British 20th and 21st Infantry divisions. At this moment he may be caught and of course executed. At this moment he faces the first "spot check" of the war zone. Now go on with the story—

CHAPTER TWELVE

Heinrich had to allow the car down to a crawl. At the foot of the hill a lieutenant sat at a big table off to the side of the pavement. Heinrich inched his car forward to the center, where he stood in the window and said "Solchebuer."

The two boys handed him their books. The sentry looked at Heinrich's first, compared his face with the picture in the front cover, and returned it. He did the same with Henny's and said harshly, "If you are Medical Corps, why don't you wear your brassard?"

"I took it off to keep it clean," Henny said humbly.

He faded it out of his belt, where it had lain two days, and fastened it around his arm with the safety pin.

They handed the sentry their trip tickets, both of them stamped for each day since their separate trips.

The sentry carried the two orders over to the lieutenant. The lieutenant, like the sentry, wore blue facings and GFP in white on his shoulder straps. The letters stand for Secret Field Division, and are the field branch of the Gestapo.

After placing at the two travel orders the lieutenant, through an oblong green-bound paper book.

"That's the Blacklist," Heinrich whispered. "I am it's green this week. By the time they issue the new one tomorrow the spy may be out of the country."

Still Not On Blacklist
But the lieutenant did not find either name. He stamped the orders "Forwarded," and the sentry handed them back.

Heinrich wiped his forehead. "I don't know why those checks are so nice to me. I must have been through a hundred, and there is never anything wrong with my papers; but they certainly put the fear of God into me."

Twenty kilometers out of Ulm they began to pass the scattered barracks of the new division, a few temporary huts off the side of the road.

The roadside had held them up so long that it was half-past six when they got to Asten, but Heinrich never stopped talking all the way.

"Now, Junge, you'd better come in with me, because it's so late. I've given you as long a ride as you are likely to get between now and the Rhine. You won't find any other tonight. Maybe tomorrow morning someone will be going your way from our life."

"Listen, you have three more days' leave. Come on in and look my place over. You might as well spend the night. I can get permission for you. Otherwise you must wait, waiting as soon as you leave me, and you might not be able to find a Gasthaus before the curfew."

"Okay. Your general can help kick me out."

"The general isn't there; he's away at some strategic Klatsch with the Gauleiter. It's only Colonel Foster now."

Sentry Needs Convincing
They reached the headquarters of the 20th Infantry Division. In a big parterre enclosed by a low stone wall a sentry stood at the gate back of him, inside the wall, was a sort of gatehouse converted into a sentry box with a sentry post.

Div. on a banner over the arched stone doorway. Through the doorway Henny saw a three-story stone institution, with tents and wood barracks scattered around it in the park.

"It used to be a forestry school," Heinrich explained.

Heinrich drew up his Volkswagen at the edge of the paving driveway.

"Your pass," the sentry demanded. "Then, recognizing Heinrich, 'Oh, it's only you. Then, Heinrich, who knows all and sends all over your circumstances. They are all matters for my signature. There is so much for me to do and so little time to do it in. Orders, operation plans, punishments. I must sign the warrant to execute a traitor tomorrow morning."

"A traitor, Herr Oberst?"

Henny Worries Over Civilian
"Yes. A civilian from the next village north of us. We have mined all the bridges of course, between here and the Rhine. This miserable farmer was caught cutting the wires of a culvert across his acre so that the mines would not explode. The paper is ready for my signature and tomorrow morning at eight, outside our gate, justice will be done."

The colonel turned over heavily and fell asleep. Henny stretched out on his blanket. But he could not sleep, thinking of the poor little blackbird to be issued next day and of the saboteur who would be shot.

Corporal Steinberg, loyal soldier of the Reich, could not deny the execution might be necessary. Corporal Mauser could plead with the colonel for a reprieve or—was he VANCOUVER, Feb. 1.—(CP)—It will be "on the beach" for nearly 400 seamen and ship's officers, west-coast deep-sea ship owners said today in commenting on Canadian ships being transferred to British registry.

"It will be impossible to keep Canadian crews aboard ships under British registry," said John Roemer, president of Western Canada Steamships Ltd.

Ottawa announced last night 123 deep-sea vessels will be transferred and net profits will be paid Canadian owners in dollars.

Mr. Roemer said that if Canadian crews are kept aboard, the basic line of cutting costs would be lost since Canadian salaries are so much higher than British.

Canadian ship owners maintain they can operate under the Canadian flag. They give high operating costs, inability to accept sterling freight and carry Marshall air charges as the main reasons.

NOW IN U.K.
Besides an original 65 vessels which are accepted for transfer of registry under federal government plan for keeping Canada's merchant marine afloat, the United Kingdom now has contracted to take on an additional 58 ships.

The latest additions to the plan now in the United Kingdom, on loan since the war. They were to have been returned to Canadian owners this year. They will remain under British registry, to be operated by agents in the U.K. for the Canadian companies.

With 123 vessels to be put under the British flag, about 50 vessels will be left of the present Canadian merchant marine. Of these, 40 are to be transferred to this year only by a federal subsidy of $2,000,000.

Happy Seas
His Father

"Try thirty-eight on the top floor," suggested a captain who was in the big house, the corridors were dimly lit by open lamps.

"Come in," a voice called in staccato.

"You're at the barracks when you're through," Heinrich whispered.

Henny pushed the door open. The room was almost dark. He pulled the curtain aside, and then turned the light, ordered the harsh voice.

"Henny switched on the 'celling bulb he saw that the patient was a man of about fifty, with jet-black hair and a square jawline.

A monocle was screwed in his right eye. His cheek was crossed with a network of scars.

"What are you?" asked the colonel.

"Henny stood at attention. 'I am not in the division at all, Herr Oberst. I was traveling on the highway with one of your sergeants. The lieutenant at the gate told us you were ill and directed me to take over the place of your orderly until he returns. I am on convalescent leave, reporting from the Luftwaffe to my new unit, which is the 18th Mountain Regiment. My name is Steinberg."

"You may relax, Corporal. This is indeed fortunate for me. I have a redundancy of heart congestion. I require nothing but an injection of diluents in the upper arm. Here is all that remains left in the syringe by my orderly before he left. You will see that I need it only when my chest begins to pain me; heffentlich, that will not be before he returns in the morning with more, but I never know when the attack may occur. One struck me this afternoon, after many months of recovery."

"See, Herr Oberst," Henny said, pulling the diluents, already injected in the syringe, in a hand of Sepsis which I dissolve from my medical kit. With your permission I shall prepare tourniquets in case of an attack. They are not in the prescription, but I know they are part of the modern treatment. By limiting the area which the blood must supply, they increase its pressure."

"And your pistol, sir. Shall I replace it in the belt of your tunic?"

"Leave the pistol beside me," said the colonel gruffly. "Do not disturb the papers on my tray under any circumstances. They are all matters for my signature. There is so much for me to do and so little time to do it in. Orders, operation plans, punishments. I must sign the warrant to execute a traitor tomorrow morning."

"A traitor, Herr Oberst?"

BY RCAF AND USAF 'Big Bertha' Cameras Filming Search Area

Hundreds of square miles of northern terrain is being photographed by RCAF and USAF aircraft as the search for a missing C-54 with 48 persons aboard, swings into its sixth day.

Difficulties in the search area, due to comment on exactly how the main job was being accomplished but said this was a sort of "double-check."

Generally, he continued, the photographing in this particular case is being done from an altitude of about 10,000 feet and from transport planes.

Equipment used is of the heavy "Big Bertha" type and requires the assistance of two men.

The equipment is mounted on the side of the transport and the photo relay are seen as the plane flies slowly over the area. Quick developing so that immediate results can be accomplished was being pushed.

Whether special processing equipment was being flown to Whitehorse or whether the developing was being done in Edmonton or Great Falls.

This is one of the expenses that goes to cost both the U.S. and Canada $500,000 a day for the air search.

'Hostile Act' in Oil Charged to Britain

All Sterling Bloc To Be Barred From Purchases Outside Area

WASHINGTON, Feb. 1.—(AP)—Sen. Tom Connally (Dem., Tex.) yesterday accused the British government of "an act of hostility" to United States economy in planning to extend an embargo on dollar oil imports to the entire sterling area.

The recently-imposed embargo, he said, has applied only to Britain herself and her colonies. Connally, chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations committee, said such an action is "most remarkable" and is making "astounding gains" to Britain to build her economy.

Other government officials accused Britain of aiming at long-term commercial advantages at the expense of the American oil industry.

The National Petroleum Council made public a letter from the British colonial secretary to the East African government at Nairobi disclosing the British plan.

The council, which has been objecting heavily to British oil restrictions, did not expect the letter, but obtained a copy of the letter.

A Russell report contended that the British policy, if continued, would compel the American oil industry to surrender the international oil trade to Britain.

One section of the British letter, saying the embargo was being extended because "United States has not provided vigorously against the proposals, aroused resentment among anti-department officials."

A state department official told a reporter "this is a bad blunder which misrepresents our position on the oil question, and it is bound to stir up trouble." This was not a correct interpretation of the American view.

Cabinet Meet Called Today
OTTAWA, Feb. 1.—(UPI)—The cabinet was called into session today to consider the flat denial of two RCAF men that they engaged in espionage behind the front curtains.

The two men, Sgt. Reginald Danko of Toronto and Sgt. Gaston Vanier of Montreal, denied also that they were rude to Czechoslovakian police. The Czech Communist government ordered their expulsion from Prague on charges of espionage and failing to observe the hospitality of Czechoslovakia.

Danko and Vanier, who were members of the Canadian air attaché's office in Prague, arrived in Slovakia last month.

Blockade airport from Montreal and London, and were immediately questioned by RCAF intelligence officers.

Their reports, verbal and written, were to go before cabinet.

Big Program For Schools In Country

Rural school building program in Alberta this year will likely be north between $7,000,000 and $8,000,000, Education Minister Hon. Ivan Casey, said today.

The minister said that approximately 67 divisions, representing about 30 districts, have presented building programs for 1950, having a total estimated value of $4,000,000. Several districts have not yet reported programs to the minister.

"It is difficult at this stage to estimate the actual outlay for school building this year in the province but it seems unlikely it will not go above the $5,000,000 spent in 1949," Mr. Casey said.

HERE TODAY

Protection Is Needed For Route

Adequate protection for the railway crossing at 82 street and 113 avenue is essential before a new gas bus service, approved last year by city council, can be inaugurated, KTS superintendent Tom Ferrie said today.

The service will be from 82 street and 113 avenue north on 82 to 122 avenue, east to Port Road, north to 127 avenue and return.

Paving of 82 street from 112 avenue to 122 avenue is on 1950 program of the city engineer's department, and contract was awarded recently.

Alberta artists are invited to submit work for a new display which will go on tour in central districts of the Province in the spring. It was announced today by officials of the economic affairs department.

WOMAN HURT

Mrs. Beatrice Brindley, of 15154 84 street, was admitted to Royal Alexandra hospital this morning after being struck by a car at 101 street and Jasper Avenue. C. Brindley, police reported, was struck by an auto driven by Eldon V. Grant of Verano after she had stepped from a street car.

January sales of city lands totaled $71,065, compared with $76,371 in January of 1949. Lands sold by the city totaled $11,839, compared with $12,000 in the same month last year.

Transportation on River Is Knotty and Nautical

By BARNEY MCKINLEY
Bulletin Staff Writer

Water transport in the Mackenzie River watershed is apparently as knotty as it is nautical.

For one thing, it has necessitated the "invention" of a sort of canoe between a seagoing tug and shallow water river boat. J. C. Houston, mechanical superintendent for Northern Transportation Co. Ltd., told the Board of Transportation Commissioners yesterday.

"It's been a long time to work this out," he said. "The trouble is the two types of craft are exact opposites."

LABOR LEADERS Arrange Plans For Line Work

Final plans are being readyed for labor leaders in Edmonton this week regarding workers on the Lakehead oil pipeline.

In Edmonton yesterday to discuss salient factors of the project was John Bruce, O.B.E. of Toronto, Canadian representative of United Association of Steamfitters and Plumbers.

One union official said it is expected Mr. Bruce will hold a conference with the local union of the Lakehead Construction Co.

EDMONTON TELP OF BEER PAIR EMPLOYEES SEEN

Probable strike of Edmonton beer parlor waiters in sympathy with Calgary waiters was seen as a possibility today by Joe Cherrington.

The Calgary waiters yesterday voted 126 to eight to go on strike after hotel operators declined to accept proposed $2 weekly wage increase.

The Calgary situation, said Cherrington, could have wide repercussions because many and better organized hotel employees are obligated not to cross picket lines.

Sweetbriar Date To Stay

Army command headquarters in Edmonton today denied reports that the air search being carried around Whitehorse would affect the start of "Operation Sweetbriar."

The type of aircraft engaged in operations are definitely not the same type scheduled to take part in the search.

Sweetbriar headquarters officers in Edmonton said that "we haven't had any conflict that the operation would be delayed because of the air search."

Check Bids On Refinery

Announcement on award of contract for construction of an oil refinery here for British America Oil Co. Ltd., is expected in about 30 days.

Site for the refinery has been purchased in Clover Bar suburb. Officials of the company are still studying bids from various firms who have tendered for the supply of processing equipment.

Cost of the refinery was estimated at between $7,000,000 and $8,000,000.

Although no announcement has been made from headquarters of the McCall-Kronenfeld Oil Company, it is understood here that contract for construction of its $10,000,000 refinery has been awarded.

CLOVER BAR

Shortly after purchase last year of a quarter-acre near the Imperial refinery at Clover Bar the company called for tenders.

In a recent announcement the company's president, J. M. Pritchard of Montreal said that engineering plans are about completed, and it was the desire of the company to assign to local firms as much work as possible.

Completion of the two refineries will bring the total to three for Edmonton.

Police Aid Sought to Get First Aid Kit

Tenants of rooms at 10664 - 59 street are beginning to wonder when their first aid kits are going to arrive.

Other tenants made similar deals.

Now they want police aid to get their first aid.

Rancher Made Governor By Colorful Ceremony

Veteran southland rancher John J. Bowlen became Alberta's seventh lieutenant-governor today in a simple but colorful ceremony in the legislative assembly chamber.

The new lieutenant-governor was sworn into office by Chief Justice George B. O'Connor of the Alberta supreme court before Premier Ernest Manning, other members of the provincial cabinet, members of the judiciary and leading citizens.

GREAT SEAL

The Great Seal of Alberta was placed in the hands of the lieutenant-governor by the chief justice who in turn handed it to provincial secretary Hon. C. E. Gensert, with the words: "To your state custody I commit the seal of the Province of Alberta."

The new lieutenant-governor then took the chamber preceded by aides John Nepey Kemp and Air Bursen and his secretary, Miss C. V. Dwyer.

Transportation Company Profits Said 'Glaring'

Judgment was reserved today in the Board of Transportation Commission report on water carrier operations in the Mackenzie River watershed.

The probe, which started on Monday, featured brittle exchange of arguments in tense three-way discussion of future water transport rates and service in the area.

"GLARING"

Today's hearing before deputy chief commissioner A. Syvret and W. J. Patterson, was highlighted by charges that Northern Transportation Co. Ltd.'s profits were "glaring."

Northern is the major carrier on the northland waterway.

The charge was made by W. G. McRae, Yellowknife board of trade representative.

"The merchants of Yellowknife find it hard to swallow," he said. "The board of trade representative said he would 'submit' costs are a definite factor."

SUBSIDY

He advised the board not to overlook the question of subsidizing the transportation companies. "Having in mind the national angle of far north facilities."

Other transport firms involved in the hearings are Yellowknife Transportation Co. Ltd. and Maclean's Products Corp. Ltd.

Toward last of the three-day hearings H. C. H. Freer, assistant federal commissioner of transport, summed up the case for the mine operators.

Operators of Consolidated and Grant Yellowknife Mining Co. Ltd. are pressing the transport board to lower the rate of depreciation allowance on marine equipment on the basis of a 10-year pay-off.

Under Northern Transportation to alter methods of distributing depreciation charges so that marine equipment not in full use is excluded from depreciation schedule when assessing operating costs.

Under Southern and the Yellowknife Transportation Company, lower rates on bulk petroleum shipments from Norman Wells, Yellowknife.

National Sew Week
Slated for Mid-Feb.

By Bea Thrift

There have been National Craft weeks, National Doughnut weeks, National Book weeks . . . and now we're going to have a National Sew and Save week.

I suspect it's a little something whopped up by national advertising hucksters . . . but that isn't even enough to take away the value of the whole affair.

Local stores will make the all-out effort to keep the sewing in sewing customers happy at the needle.

Everything from pennywise pieces to fabulous fabrics will be stepped-up to help the gal who's nifty in needle with the thimble.

Nation's nonsense is a matter of press importance when the sewing silhouette is in mind.

Careful choice of threads, fastenings, buttons, give the minimum of dressmaker perfection to your hand-sewn piece.

Should pads, for instance, have taken new importance with the 1950 fashion picture. Dry it gone when you nip into a shop and find just a pair of shoulder pads. Manufacturers are getting down in the fine points and even the able to buy a pair of pads for your particular shoulder type . . . athletic, Victorian or average as the case may be.

Other aids from the sewing box are, probably, normally sold at a $7.50 price listing. They'll be on sale price during the National Sew and Save Week.

A tailor's lacking gadget, hemmer, pattern perforator . . . all help shorten the hours of work . . . add perfection to the finished product.

And what'll the textile chain think of next?

Now they're burlap on their little minds.

Seems they've adopted the Parisian—popular burlap—type cloth for casual suits, skirts, brief jackets, beach coats. It will be available in yard goods for the National Sew and Save Week.

Delightful refreshing new fabrics will be a fine appearance of a variety of linens, mostly green with loud hatched last year.

Pure silks should be available in time also. Here again is a potential popularity winner . . . the crease-resistant, drapable, even-tempered silk.

We'll watch like bees for this year's new fabrics.

On about the date of this affair.

It's slated for week of Feb. 18 to Feb. 25 with sports buying going up their personnel, importing experts, and generally making like eager bees to this National Sew and Save Week.

I'm kind of looking forward to it. Seems there'll be big sales everywhere. The whole job . . . will give customers a new look and some new fabrics as feature attractions.

WHY GROW OLD

Tolerance in Life
Pays Great Dividends

By Josephine Lowman

Every year I write some articles which I think of as "Old Thoughts for the New Year." Certainly tolerance has been written about and talked about since we were members, and before.

However, it has usually been treated from the viewpoint of nobility and surety in one of man's most noble traits.

Actually, tolerance is another name for kindness.

As I grow older, I am thinking about tolerance from the viewpoint of what it does for the man or woman who has it. More is being learned every day about the effects of the emotions on health and charm and beauty.

In the personality field a woman who is slow to blame or criticize or condemn, and who is to forgive, understand and praise, is always charming and she is always loved. Negative, bitter emotions crowd out the lovely ones.

In the physical field the impact of thoughts and emotions is just as great. People who realize that when we hate or envy or worry, we do it without gain, with our blood pressure, our heartbeats, our rate of respiration, our muscles and with every organ in the body, realize that thoughts are physical as well as mental and spiritual.

If there is any real fountain of joy it probably lies here! There is a little less to be gained from a person that the will to get well and no cosmetics will give such a glow as kindness. A person who lives for the people, laughter and love, and whose interest in something outside of himself is strong.

Why not make a New Year's resolution that you will take life a little less seriously and will have a little kinder and more understanding that you will be a little-gayer during 1950.

IT SHOWS—One's thoughts and emotions do affect one's beauty. You can be the charm possessed by designer Mary Kay Dutton, aided by a grand emotional balance.

DOROTHY DIX SAYS

Friendless Girl Asked
To Check Own Failures

DEAR MISS DIX: I am pretty, well-educated and dress well. I make a good impression on strangers, but I can keep neither men or girl friends. Why is this?

ANSWER: The one deal in life where we get absolutely what we are coming to us is in the matter of friendship. People are liked and loved in just the ratio that they deserve it. So if you are unpopular, you are a case? Do you know your own faults? Are you in control?

Do you rather pride yourself upon speaking the truth to your friends? Don't you feel called upon to tell Peggy that her hat is becoming, and Dorothy that she is looking lovely, and Betty that she is getting fat?

MONOPOLIZING MEN. And who is the kind of a girl who tries to monopolize every man she can get her claws on? And who would rather die than introduce her cat to another girl?

If you are, what right have you to complain when other girls pay back in your own coin?

As for your failure to be popular with men, look yourself squarely in the face and see where the trouble lies. Are you one of the sniffs girls who always tries to make a man think that she is a sort of fairy princess, and that no matter what he does for her, she is entitled to accept it? If it does, why should the man waste his good money on you any more?

Below is one of many written statements by women who were given a sample of Heinz Soup and asked to make a comparison with other well-known brands. It is a test in your own case. You will taste the wonderful difference.

"In the past we have been buying another brand of soup, but this sample will switch us to Heinz in the future."

Newcomers to City Welcomed at Tea

Welcome Wagon People Join Forces With Bay for Gala City Reception

Traditional warm Western greeting for newcomers was extended yesterday afternoon when the Welcome Wagon Service, through the co-operation of the Hudson's Bay Company, held the first in a series of teas for new citizens of Edmonton.

One hundred and fifty newcomers from all parts of Canada and the United States met in the HBC Empire Room, which was artfully set to represent different parts of the continent.

Canadian and American coats of arms and flags brightened the walls, while the tea tables were of roses, tulips, daffodils, narcissus and hyacinths.

HONORED GUESTS

Specially invited guests included Mayor and Mrs. Sidney Tarnan, Mr. and Mrs. H. S. A. Johnson, Mrs. Richard Proctor, OMR, Mrs. M. H. S. Finkbe, Mrs. C. H. Dunlop, Mrs. F. T. Brady, Mrs. A. L. Burrows, and R. L. Gibson.

Mrs. Florence M. Napkey, managing director for Canada of the Welcome Wagon Service, was in charge of arrangements. Assisting were the Edmonton Welcome Wagon hosts, Mrs. G. L. Gossard, Miss Muriel Drake and members of the Bay staff.

First welcome wagon, says Mrs. Kinley, dates away back to the early days of the West. When pioneers, crossing the plains in covered wagons were approaching a settlement, they would be met by a Conestoga wagon, carrying food, water and fuel.

STARTED 21 YEARS AGO

This idea was revived 21 years ago by Thomas W. Briggs, now president of the Welcome Wagon Service, in his home in Memphis, Tenn., with only one helper.

Newcomers were welcomed to the city on behalf of sponsors. Assisted with helpful information about their new home, and presented with selected gifts.

The Welcome Wagon worked in co-operation with church groups and other organizations.

Parents Warned About Child Care By Nursery Expert

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 31.—Parents might have fewer problems with their children if the young ones had fewer rules and less love.

At least that's what Mrs. Isabelle P. Buckley thinks, and she should know. She's been running nursery and grade schools in Los Angeles for 15 years and she spoke recently on her child-rearing theories. She has four of her own.

She says: I tell parents that they should establish very few rules, but to stick to those they do. In her opinion this is all right for parents to ignore minor wrongs now and then, to prevent constant nagging. But when you do say something to a child, says Mrs. Buckley, follow it through. Then the child will respect you and will get the security he needs from his home.

By C. V. Myers
Bulletin Oil Editor

Pacific Petroleum Ltd., fourth-ranking among Redwater oil producers, had delivered 401,403 barrels of crude oil, valued at $1,110,535 by the end of 1949 from its 16 wells in the field, the company reveals in a progress report.

Associated with Pacific in its Redwater program are Sunray Oil Co., Calvan Petroleum Ltd., and its associates, Atlantic Oil Co., Princess Petroleum Ltd., Commonwealth Drilling Co., Polaris Oil Co. and others.

The Pacific group has in addition to its 16 producers seven other Redwater oil wells, marketing arrangements for which are now being drawn up. One dry hole was drilled in the field by the group and two others were drilled by other companies on Pacific holdings.
